

Though filled with lovely furniture and accessories, this room still feels cold and a bit unwelcoming.

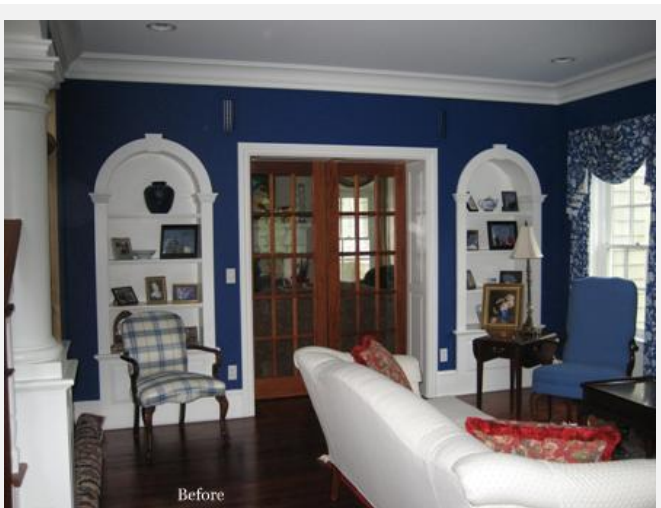

A comfortable conversation area and warm yellow accents take away the chill and invite you in.

We accomplished the transformation by replacing the existing rug with an 'extra' the client had stored in a corner of the room. The new rug is warmer and offers more visual interest.

After one day redesign

Before

We removed tired silk flower arrangements and borrowed vases and a small chest from other rooms. We collected and rearranged existing photos and accessories to maximize their impact.

A quick trip to the store for the coordinated silver tone frames and two yellow throw pillows and the room was finished in a few hours.

After one day redesign